

Too mad to be true II - The promises and perils of the first-person perspective

Saturday May 27 & Sunday May 28, 2023. Museum Dr. Guislain, Gent

SATURDAY

8.30-9.00 Welcome + coffee

9.00-9.20 Jasper Feyaerts (Ghent University) & Wouter Kusters (Foundation for Psychiatry & Philosophy) - Welcoming & general introduction to the conference

9.20-10.10 Keynote 1: Alastair Morgan - Interpretation as attention to difference (in person)

10.10-10.30 Coffee break

10.30-11.45 Parallel Session 1

Large Room	The allure of madness	Sofia Paul	Jeppsson Lodge	online
-------------------	-----------------------	------------	----------------	--------

	Self presupposes self-disorder	Arthur	Sollie	in person
--	--------------------------------	--------	--------	-----------

	Phenomenology of Thinking & Neurophysiology	Willem	Daub	in person
--	---	--------	------	-----------

Library	Self-Experience in CPTSD: The Limits of Minimal and Narrative Self	Jake	Dorothy	in person
----------------	--	------	---------	-----------

	Borderline temporality - between lived experience and third-person conceptualization. Toward evidence-based phenomenological analysis	Anna Marcin	Sterna Moskalewicz	in person
--	---	-------------	--------------------	-----------

	How to listen to the revolt expressed by people with mental suffering?	Evi	Verbeke	in person
--	--	-----	---------	-----------

Philemon	The problem of diagnosis. The Way of Tao (the inner voice).	Edith	Mayorga	online
-----------------	---	-------	---------	--------

	From Mastery to Mystery in Psychosis Inquiry	Alke	Haarsma-Wisselink	in person
--	--	------	-------------------	-----------

	Too Bad to Be True: The 'troubled teen industry' and the lived-experience-expert as captor	Sarah	Golightley	online
--	--	-------	------------	--------

11.45-12.35 Keynote 2: Robert Chapman - Class Consciousness, Elite Capture, and Mental Health (online)

12.35-13.35 Lunchbreak

13.35-14.50 Parallel session 2

Large Room	The birth of the Homo Paradoxalis	Robert	Swier	in person
-------------------	-----------------------------------	--------	-------	-----------

	Kant with Chaos: from 'a priori' to 'I'	Ferdy	Marysse	in person
--	---	-------	---------	-----------

	Psychosis as a process of existential detemporalisation	Rob	Sips	in person
--	---	-----	------	-----------

Library	Presentation and Workshop about the Renewing Phenomenological Psychopathology Project	Lucienne Roxana Rosa	Spencer Baiasu Ritunnano	online
----------------	---	----------------------	--------------------------	--------

Philemon	Bridging Divergent Realities through Film and Photography: Valuing "Living" Experience through visual methods	Robyn	Thomas	in person
-----------------	---	-------	--------	-----------

	A critique of the first-person perspective from psychoanalysis starting from the ordeals of digital subjectivity.	Jan	de Vos	in person
--	---	-----	--------	-----------

	Her own story, in her own words. Freud's patient Anna von Lieben answers back	Hilda	Reilly	in person
14.50-15.40	Keynote 3: Elizabeth Pienkos - On the understandability of psychosis: Pushing the limits of phenomenological psychopathology (in person)
15.40-16.00	Tea break
16.00-17.15	Parallel session 3
Large Room	Institution or individuality? Some reflections on the lessons to be learned from personal accounts of recovery from schizophrenia	Rosanna	Wannberg	in person
	Horizon and Danger of Literature in Clinical Phenomenology : Louis Lambert's case	Florestan	Delcourt	in person
	The first-person perspective of differend as threshold to madness	Richard	Brons	in person
Library	Not Enough of the 'Mad'. Experiential Knowledge and Temporal Experience in Autism Spectrum Condition.	Maciej Marcin	Wodziński Moskalewicz	in person
	Autistic (dis)embodiment	Liesbeth	Taels	in person
	A rare experiment in concept formation: The Creation of a Language for Describing Autistic Experience	Janette	Dinishak	online
Philemon	First-person research? Critical auto-phenomenology from queer and mad positionalities	Sanne	van Driel	in person
	Critical Perspectives and Clinical Ethics: Interventions from Mad Studies	Kathleen	Lowenstein	online
	Identity politics for Mad Studies and Mad activism	Grietje	Keller	in person
17.15	Social meeting – Drinks
SUNDAY
8.30-9.00	Welcome + coffee
9.00-9.50	Keynote 4: Angela Woods - First-Person Perspectives: Questions of Form (in person)
9.50-11.05	Parallel session 4
Large Room	Being in-between: an empirical-phenomenological exploration of Anderssein ('feeling different') in schizophrenia	Helene	Stephensen	in person
	'Lived' Body and Subjectivity: The feeling of being alive as the feeling of 'belonging'.	Emilia	Barile	in person
	Psychosis and alienation	Lotte	Soffers	in person
Library	Is psychosis a distinct mode of consciousness?	Shauna	Winram	online
	A lifeworld-based account of experiential knowledge	Roy	Dings	in person
	Medical decision-making and the mad first-person perspective	Mollie	Cornell	in person
Philemon	Experiential wisdom and academic Mad Studies	Lisa	Archibald	in person

	What is the nature of subjective experience in various forms of non-madness	L.	Dijkhuis	in person
	Professionals' lived experiences: Towards a transformation of services	Simona	Karbouniaris	online
11.05-11.25	Coffee break
11.25-12.15	Keynote 5: Sam Fellowes - How the lived experience of experts-by-experience relates to the abstract nature of science (in person)
12.15-13.15	Lunchbreak
13.15-14.30	Parallel session 5
Large Room	Why Should We Include People with Lived Experience in the DSM Revision Process? Ethical and Epistemological Arguments in Tension	Anne-Marie	Gagné-Julien	online
	The Institutions of the Bodily Self. Depersonalization and Cenesthopathies	Istvan Mathilde	Fazakas Bois	in person
	Birth of a mother: Uncovering our postpartum experiences	Cynthia Elizabeth	Dorrestijn Pienkos	in person
Library	Pitfall of the first-person perspective is a one-person psychology: the case of unrepressed unconscious emotions	Daniël	Helderman	in person
	Concealing Narratives: On the Difficulty of Accessing the First-Person Perspective	Anna	Bortolan	online
	The Limits of the First Person and the Boundaries of Psychotherapy	Joshua	Richardson	in person
Philemon	All Thought is En-Maddening: A Non-Philosophical Outline of A Theory of the Mad	Zachary	Walter	online
	The Aporia of Time: Deleuze & Meillassoux on thought, time and the Absolute	Kasper	Essers	in person
	Deleuze and the a-subjectivity of madness	Catarina	Pombo Nabais	online
14.30-15.20	Keynote 6: Richard Saville Smith - Resisting the ambivalent collapse from certainty to despair (in person)
15.20-15.40	Tea break
15.40-16.55	Parallel session 6
Large Room	Putting the psyche back into psychopharmacology: Is a First-Person Psychopharmacology possible?	Radoslaw Pesach	Stupak Lichtenberg	in person
	The role of the first-person perspective in a phenomenology-oriented psychopharmacology	Luca F.	Maschião	in person
	Contextualising and moderating first and second person claims with third person insights	Valeria Michael	Motta Larkin	online
Library	The many worlds of madness: delimitation of meaning domains in schizophrenic talk and interaction	Ross	Smith	online
	"Am I going to see myself?" Recognition, relationality, and subjectivity in identification with self-harm in fiction	Veronica	Heney	in person

Psychosis vs Psychedelics - How are social contexts for such states woven into their subjective experiences? Sabina Wantoch in person

Philemon	Towards a Suffering-Based Approach to Mental Healthcare's Purview	Andrew	Evans	online
	What is Expertise by Experience?	Edward	Harcourt	in person
	Scientific first person perspective	Eddo	Rats	in person
16.55-17.45	Keynote 7: Phoebe Friesen - Psychosis and Psychedelics: Historical Entanglements and Contemporary Contrasts (online)
17.45	Social meeting - drinks			